

Galerie

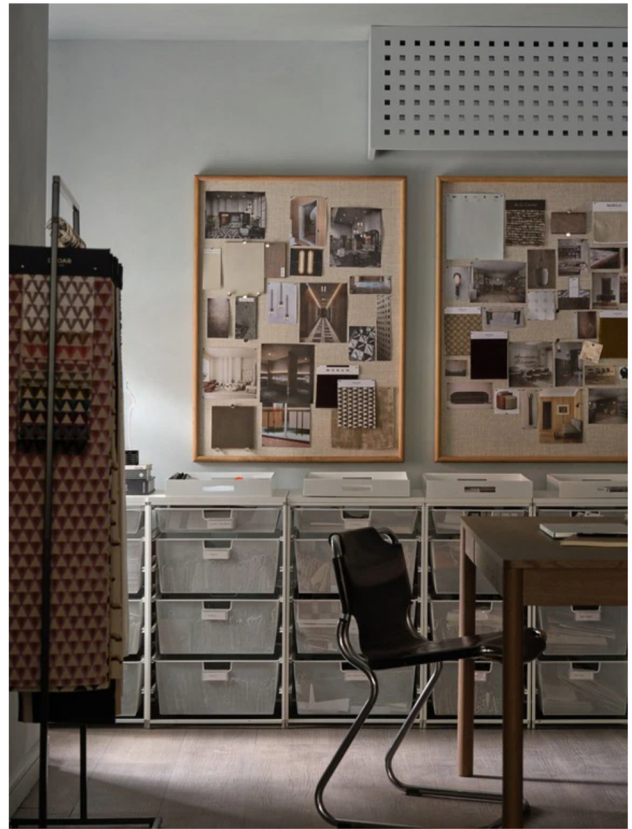

DESIGN

The Latest Crop of Showrooms Elevating New York's Design Scene

From a bastion of brass hardware and gemstone-beaded chainmail lighting to a Cobble Hill interior design studio's venture into artisanal home goods

Manes Studio showroom.
PHOTO: REID ROLLS

Manes Studio showroom.
PHOTO: REID ROLLS

3. Manes Studio | Cobble Hill

After securing a rare vacant storefront on a picturesque brownstone-lined block in Cobble Hill, husband-and-wife designers Jack and Josh Manes have transformed it into a new home for their growing practice and a need-to-know resource for Brooklyn's design community. The street-facing showroom combines custom furnishings by Manes Studio with a curated array of artisanal home goods, decorative objects, fine art, and modern vintage pieces sourced from local and international makers. Visitors can browse collections from Greg Natale, Match Pewter, Adlan Fragrances, Daphne Verley, Ali Enache, and floral artist Ariel Dearie, alongside a robust material library featuring Dedar textiles, Bas Stone, and Kamp Studios plaster.